SEEKS DIVORCE FROM WIFE BEATER

Mrs. Albert G. Matthews Makes Some Unqualified Charges Against Her Husband.

THROWS LAMPS AT HELPMEET

Matthews Accused of Beating and Pinching the Woman Until She Is Black and Blue.

Aftert G. Mathews has a very violent temper and frequently loses control of it, according to accusations made against him by his wife, Janet Mathews, who today filed suit for divorce in the districts court. The plaintiff alleges that since her marriage, Dec. 31, 1903, she has been the victim of exceedingly cruel treatment because of the uncontrollable tongue and ready-to-strike hand of her husband.

Specifying the acts of cruelty on the part of defendant, Mrs. Mathews alleges that whether the two were alone or in the presence of others, she was constantly and continuously called vile names and addressed in a harsh manner by her husband. Without cause he would be seized with passion and rage, at which times he would break furniture and fixtures in the house, and would curse, choke and beat plaintiff, bruising her head, face, arms and body, and this, too, at intervals not to exceed two weeks. At times defendant has, plaintiff-declares, taken her by the hair and throat and battered her head against the wall and pinched her arms until they were black and blue. At times he has thrown lamps, utensils and other dangerous objects at her, and on one occasion seized her by the hair, threw her to the floor and beat her with his hands and fists, causing great bodily injury and pain. constantly and continuously called vile ECONOMY UNDER PRESSURE.

CONOMY UNDER PRESSURE.

On one occasion, says Mrs. Matthews, her husband asked her for a razor houe, and upon plaintiff replying that she did not know what he meant, she was called a — old fool and other names too vile to be put into the complaint. She was accused of using too much coal, and through fear of criticism and punishment went cold and suffered in consequence.

Further the accusation is made against defendant that on or about Aug. 1, 1908, he offered his wife a cup of water, and because she did not drink it at once, he abused her. She drank the water and immediately became very sick, and states it to be her belief that her husband had put some noxious substance into the water. Sept. 3, avers the plaintiff, her husband choked her until she was nearly strangled, and when she called for help he said: "Yell, you old ignorant fool!" and then put his hand over her mouth and knocked her violently aginst the wall, took her by the feet and body and threw her out of the door down the steps, and she landed with great force upon the ground. By reason of such treatment her body was bruised and she suffered a hemorrhage in the nose and head, bruised and she suffered a hemorrhage uncertain as the period of the autumnal equinox approaches, which is due Sept. 21, when the sun crosses the equator, and the days and nights are of equal length.

There are no children, and Mrs. Matthews asks for a dissolution of the marriage tie and for such other relief as she may be entitled to.

There was a thundershower last evening with a display of electricity that made things impleasant as well as unprofitable for the street car service. The lightning struck and shattered four poles and cross-arms of the Utah Light & Railway company in Big Cottonwood canyon, putting that section of the power service out of commission temporarily, and stopping the street cars in this city for 23 minutes. Then for a fair part of the evening, lightning would strike the high tension wires, throwing each time one or more machines in the distributing power stations out of synchronitic action for a few moments, until the equalization in operation could be restored. Electric lights the town over flared up, went down, and at times went out, this inequality continuing intermittently, while the showers lasted. An area of low pressure is central over lower California, and another storm is apparently moving northward toward the Gulf coast. ## DRUNK MAN SAVES THE DAY.

Mr. A. B. Carstenson of this city and party had a peculiar experience at Ogden Monday evening, with their automobile. They were renewing the gasoline supply in the tank of the car, without having taken the precaution to extinguish the car lights. The result was that the highly inflammable vapor as it ascended from the can caught fire, the flames shooting high up in the air. The destruction of the car seemed imminent; but the fire department responded promptly, and drenched the auto with the soda solution from the chemical engine, while an inebriated individual with no care for his future, walked up to the car, and clapping a wad of paper over the nozzle of the can smothered the flame. No damage whatever was done to the auwithout having taken the precaution ale of the can smothered the latter and damage whatever was done to the automobile, or its occupants. It is said, though, that had the can been only partly full, the gass in the interior would have exploded it, and spread destruction all around.

AMERICANS WOULD ENDORSE A MORMON

Hatred for Whole Class Disappears for Anyone Chosen A Taft Elector.

WHOM DO THEY SUPPORT?

Republicans Say It Is Not Taft When They Seek To Name State Ticket Opposed to the Republican.

Is the "American" party willing to stand for a Mormon elector, to vote for im in order to vote for Taft, and then tope by thus voting for him to attract rotes for an anti-Mormon state and county ticket?

The question comes to an issue in the effort of the "American" party, through Joseph Lippman, its chief persuader, to force Republican electors to allow themselves to be endorsed by the allow themselves to be endorsed by the "American" party machine.

There are three Republican electors to be selected. At least one of them normally is certain to be a Mormon. And yet the "American" party leaders are worrying themselves into many columns of party organ space in their effort to force this list of electors on to their ticket.

columns of party organ space in their effort to force this list of electors on to their ticket.

Whether they shall be allowed to do so is still an open question on which Republican party sentiment is anything but positively set. Last night the matter occasioned sharp debate in at least one district, where Thomas Hull, John Q. Critchlow and Harry Joseph indulged in a three-cornered discussion of the matter

In the Taft club, at its opening session, Jos. Lippman brought the matter to an issue, and it was ruled out of order by Chairman James Devine. An effort today to obtain opinions from a representative number of Republicans found State Chairman Wesley K. Walton with his mind still to make up on the question. Former State Chairman Spry, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, was positively opposed to allowing the endorsement of the electors, and based his opposition on the grounds that no "American" could in decency declare himself for Taft, and against the Republican congressman and nominees on the state ticket who are to be Taft's supporters. "The 'American' leaders have urged the Republicans to put a soft pedal on all and nominees on the state ticket who are to be Taft's supporters. "The 'American' leaders have urged the Republicans to put a soft pedal on all praise of Roosevelt, declaring that it would scare away 'American' party votes for Taft,' said Mr. Spry. "Now the Taft platform endgress Roosevelt, the Taft program is to carry forward the Roosevelt program, so where is their point to that? Many of the most noticeable Roosevelt successes have been worked out in their details by Taft. Therefore, just as support to Roosevelt meant endorsement of the work under him being done by Taft, endorsement of Taft now means the support of the men under him who will lend his administration its success and work out the details of its various ramivork out the details of its various rami-

FOR AND YET AGAINST.

FOR AND YET AGAINST.

The "American" party proposes to name its own candidate for Congress. It is supporting Taft to put in Congress a congressman who is not of his party, when the lower house of Congress is at best a battle ground on all occasions, and is as often against the administration as for it. Personally I think it peculiarly inconsistent that the "American" party should seek to use Taft electors on their ticket. I don't think Taft would thank them for support to him, coupled with opposition to the ticket upon which he depends for support in Congress. Such support is far from sincere and far from being of any value."

DEMOCRATS UNCERTAIN YET. Whether the Democrats will take any action on the matter of allowing the "American" party to endorse their electors, it is still too early to state definitely. State Chairman Martineau, when asked for his opinion of the matter stated this afternoon that he could only give his personal opinion, as the matter had not been talked over in committee meetings. "Naturally," he said, "I should think there would be hundreds of Democrats who would not be opposed to getting all the votes they can for their national ticket. I think many of them will favor allowing any endorsement of their national electors by other parties which may be depended upon to bring them more votes. What action the state committee will take, however, I am not able to forecast. No request has yet been made to us to allow the endorsement of our presidential electors, and I am not sure that any will be. After it comes, if any does come, will be time to decide whether to welcome or reject it." Whether the Democrats will take

It is the opinion of Chief of Detectives George A. Sheets that the chances The sport published yesterday of for the capture of David Logan, colthe arrest of E. C. Briggs was discredited several weeks ago at a conference of the Reorganized church, and he was released from further labors as a missionary in the Rocky Mountain mission of that church. Briggs has, however, of his own accord, been engaged in distributing tracts and making inflamed speeches against the Utah Church to the extent that the presiding elder of Since the shooting, detectives and patrolimen have searched the city thoroughly and every outgoing train has been carefully watched for some trace of the murderer, but up to this writing the authorities have not been able to secure any information whatever as to the location of Logan. speeches against the Utan Church to the extent that the presiding elder of the Reorganized mission in this state, Elder F. Ed Johnson, who was with Logan when the shooting occurred, and who was released on $100 bail, is still in the city, and Winn McCulloch is locked in a cell at the city jail. The police are holding him as a witness and if Logan is captured there is a probability that McCulloch will be prosecuted as an accomplice of Logan's.

HAD MADE THREATS.

It was learned last night that both Logan and McCulloch had made threats against Hawkins and it is said they had declared their intention of "getting" Hawkins at the first opportunity. The police are of the belief that McCulloch knows more about the shooting than he is willing to tell and that he is keeping something back from the officers.

Chief Sheets stated this morning that Logan was undoubtedly out of town and was being concealed by friends. Hawkins, it is said, had but few friends here because of his penchant for bullying other negroes and the colored riff raff of Commercial street have expressed satisfaction over his death.

HUNTING FOR FUGITIVE.

Chief Pitt has sent out pictures of Logan and a good description of the man and every effort is being made to capture him. Some of the police believe he is in hiding in Salt Lake and is being cared for by friends and by enemies of Hawkins. Detective Sheets said this morning that there are plenty of negroes in Salt Lake who would harbor the murderer and throw the police off the track if they could.

There were several false alarms last night to the effect that Logan had been located and in each instance the police investigated only to find some one else than the fugitive.
